FIGHTIN' IRISH

In what's shaping up to be a multi-ethnic pride week, the Irish will be celebrating Celtic pugilism in the U.S. since 1820. Ex-boxer "Irish" Micky Ward, legendary promoter Lou Dibella and Maureen Shea (he trained Hilary Swank for "Million Dollar Baby") lead Tuesday's "Pugilists and Popcorn" symposium. The evening starts with a 6 p.m. guided tour of an Irish boxing exhibit, followed by a Q&A at the South Street Seaport Museum at 12 Fulton St.; (212) 748-8775. Tickets $35-$50.
